Evening School Gains Rapidly In Attendance

111 Students Take Courses in Torrance Night Instruction Program

The resignation of J. W. Barnett as principal of the Torrance evening high school was accepted, to take effect on Nov. 3. Mr. Mowry will take charge at that time. Two years ago the evening high school started in a small way, and has gradually been built up. It is becoming so popular that many of the classes are crowded. The following subjects are being taught: Bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, parliamentary law, mathematics, mechanical drawing, woodwork, dressmaking, and art—which includes basketry, painting, water colors, drawing, leather work. The present enrollment is 111. About 30 more have signed up for a course for a class of auto mechanics and machine shop. The shop will soon be ready. Excellent new equipment is now being installed. A class in public speaking is being organized. Do you want it? You can have it any night in the week if a sufficient number will sign up. The Parent-Teacher Association Father Night will be held on Nov. 14. Come early and meet all evening classes that meet on Wednesday. Others meet on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. You are welcome as a student or visitor.

American Stars and Stripes to Wave Over English Manor Perpetually

The Stars and Stripes will fly in perpetuity over Sulgrave Manor, in England, ancestral home of George Washington. Francis Thomas, King of New York has established a fund of $1,500 to maintain it. The manor house is seen in the background.

THRIFT OR FOOLISHNESS

—A foolish man spends his money and then tells all his friends about it. The Thrifty man saves his money and then his friends tell the world about it. The moral is, he who saves will have plenty of laughs for the last.

OBSERVATIONS

to use it. It means just what men make it mean—no more. * * * * * Is there a man or woman who does not feel just a little bit exalted as he or she steps out of the polling booth after casting a vote? I have watched them for years—going into the polling place and coming out again—in their hands the piece of paper representing so much of that for which our forefathers died. There is a distinct thrill to voting. In the breast there wells up a feeling of emancipation—a vague realization that, "There, I can do that. I am a citizen. I AM THE STATE." The shadows that darkened the lives of most mortals through ages and ages, pass away as the modern elector steps out of the little booth and proudly consigns his ballot to the hands of the election official. He walks a little more briskly. His head is a trifle more erect. In his eye is a little more of defiance, inherited from those age-old nameless ancestors who had to win their rights by blood and who won HIM the right to cast a vote. Nobody knows how he voted—unless he has told. It is his secret, his right to keep his own counsel, to vote his own ticket and register his own opinions. He has stepped out of serfdom into the new white light of dawn liberty. Branded through all time as INFERIOR, he is at this moment the MOST superior. Candidates have assailed him with their arguments, pleaded and cajoled for his support, begged for his vote. He is supreme. Let them plead and cajole and beg. He will vote as he wishes, just as he has now voted, secretly, according to the dictates of his own convictions. The emancipation of men from their warring overlords, their puny potentates, is personified in him who has just voted. No wonder he walks more briskly. HE is the King.

HALLOWEEN PARTY
A very delightful Halloween party was given by Mrs. James B. Johnson of 1315 Amapola avenue Friday to celebrate the second birthday of her son, James B. Johnson Jr. The Halloween motif was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. The kiddies enjoyed Halloween games. Those present included Mrs. C. G. Olson and son Gordon, of Los Angeles; Mrs. R. B. Parks and daughter Alice, of Santa Monica; Mrs. Mayfield and Mrs. Severns, of Torrance; Dorothy Middleton, Joe McCall, Edward McCall, Donald Moshier, Joe Severns, Bobby

Issue Permits For 13 Homes Here in Month

Construction in October Includes Two New Store Buildings as Well

Permits for the construction of thirteen dwellings were taken out in Torrance last month. New construction for which permits were granted during the month will cost $29,925. Practically all of this amount will be for dwelling house construction. Two new store buildings are under way. One is being built on Carson street by Ed MacDonald and will be occupied by Renn and Tomkins. The other is at the corner of Carson and Gramercy and will be partially utilized by the American Fruit Market. October permits for business and dwelling house construction were as follows: 1732 Martina avenue, J. J. Street, five-room dwelling, $4000; 1809 Manuel, Dr. Hoag, five-room dwelling, $3000; 1504 Elm, Clark and Dowling, frame dwelling, $1500; 800 Portola, D. Spurlin, four-room dwelling, $2000; 1918 222d street, four-room dwelling, $1995; 2207-2213 Cabrillo, Frank Steinbiller, six-unit court, $10,000; 1931 Carson, Ed McDonald, one-story store, $4000; 1973-5 Carson, Dennis & Christensen, store, $2000 (Gas Peterson contractor); 1834 Amapola, Frank Sammons, four-room dwelling, $2000; 2907 Plaza del Amo, L. E. Stoner, five-room dwelling, $3100.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS
The Long Beach Camp of Royal Neighbors will have a housewarming November 6 at their new home, 1329 Elm avenue. A covered dish dinner will be followed by an excellent program and a dance. Local Royal Neighbors are cordially invited to attend.

YOUNG BURIED
The funeral of John T. Young was held Monday morning from the Stone & Myers chapel on Narbonne avenue, Lomita. Services were conducted by Rev. E. E. Clark. The body was cremated at Inglewood. Young's body was found October 18 by boys playing in a field near Beacon street and Eshelman avenue. A certificate of suicide was issued by the coroner.

Parent-Teacher District Meets Friday, Nov. 7th

Harbor Area Gathering Will Be Held at Lomita High School

The "district," or, more properly, the mass meeting of Section D, Harbor District, P.T.A., will be held next Friday, Nov. 7, at 2 o'clock sharp, in the Lomita high school auditorium. Mrs. W. W. Hopp, chairman of councilors, will give in detail an explanation of the Community Chest, in which the Central P.T.A. will share by virtue of belonging to the Los Angeles city school district, and its affiliation with the federation. Mrs. B. E. Ferris, hospitality chairman, will have something interesting to say about her department; Mrs. H. C. Bowers, membership chairman, and Mrs. Charles C. Clemente, home and school aid, will each discuss their particular work; and Mrs. E. Fletcher Scott, federation historian, will talk about the Parent-Teacher publication. Mrs. C. M. McRoberts, past president, and Mrs. E. O. McCulloch, president of the Tenth district, plan to be present, as do a number of other federation officers. The various presidents of the Harbor district will deliver three-minute talks. The boys' quartet of Gardena, Mrs. Roy Hussey, soloist, and the Lomita high school orchestra will take part in the afternoon's program. The refreshment committee takes this method of reminding members of promised cakes, and every member of the association, whether a member of a committee or not, is urged to attend. Come out early, and do whatever may be necessary to make this meeting an unqualified success. Remember, the meeting will start promptly at 2 p.m. next Friday, Nov. 7.

Women's Team And Tire Men To Bowl Here

Los Angeles Fair-Sex Five Play Hendrie Wednesday Night

An interesting match is scheduled to be played at The American Bowling Alleys here Wednesday night when the women's team of the Pico-Main alleys bowl against the Hendrie Tire Company. One of the members of the women's team is 37 years old, but she has the highest score of the five. Redondo meets the Tansey Barbers again Wednesday night. The Redondo bowlers beat the local hair-cutters at the Beach City last week and the little shavers are warm for revenge.

Pedro Villa Too Much for Cyrus

Pedro Villa proved too much for "Chief" Cyrus, local Torrance boxer, at Compton Friday night, and knocked out the "Chief" in the second round. Cyrus did his best, but Villa proved the better boxer. In his last five bouts Cyrus has scored three knock-outs, one decision, and was knocked out himself once. The "Chief" will be on the program next Friday night with Bud Ridley. A knock-out is expected in this fight, and the "Chief" says it will be the other fellow. Villa will hook up with Teddy Silva, champion featherweight of the Pacific coast, on the same card Friday night.
